

Three Types of Inside Cover Pages

1. Just the Date

One of my most used options. I love starting a book with today's date so I know when I started that specific notebook. You can write the date by hand, on a label, use a date stamp, or however you're into writing the date.

2. A Fun/Special Supply

The first page in a notebook is a great place to show off something special. I love putting special vinyl stickers, tiny art prints or anything else I want to showcase.

3. Whatever You Have on Your Desk

Daily Pages is all about using what you've got, and that includes whatever random stuff you've got on your desk at the moment. The first page isn't sacred you're allowed to put down whatever you want and come back tomorrow.
